Introduction

Dear InterRail Traveller,

We're delighted that you have chosen to travel with an InterRail Pass. Your InterRail travel document set includes this Traveller's Guide, an InterRail Map and an InterRail Global Pass Cover with a Travel Report inside. The Pass Cover and Travel Report, together with an attached ticket, form the InterRail Pass itself.

This InterRail Traveller's Guide has been designed to help you get the most out of your Pass and to enjoy your journey through Europe. It includes information on how to use the Pass and handle reservations, and also gives an overview of additional benefits per country that your InterRail Pass entitles you to.

*Thank you for choosing
InterRail, enjoy your trip!*

How the InterRail Global Pass works

What does my InterRail Pass entitle me to?

Your Pass entitles you to transportation on all the national railways and shipping lines listed in your InterRail Pass Cover, and on some private railways listed in the 'Benefits per Country' section of this guide. Please note that it is not valid for free travel in your country of residence (see Conditions of Use, article 6). Also not included are reservations costs and surcharges required for overnight beds and seats on certain international and high-speed trains. For more information, see the 'Seat & Bed Reservations' box below and the 'Costs & Surcharges' table on the back of the InterRail Map.

How do I start using my InterRail Pass?

Once you have received your InterRail Pass, check it carefully to ensure that all of your personal details are correct. Should there be any mistakes, it is important to take it back to the point-of-purchase for correction before you start travelling. You can take your first trip with InterRail anytime after 00.00 hours on the first day that your Pass is valid. You must finish your last trip by midnight (24.00 hours) on the last day of validity.

How often can I travel?

It depends on the type of InterRail Pass you have. There are two sorts: 'Continuous' and 'Flexi'. The Continuous Pass can be used as often as you want during the time period it is valid for (15 days, 22 days or 1 month). The Flexi Pass can only be used for a specific number of travel days (5 or 10) during the overall period of validity. If you have a Flexi InterRail Pass, a Travel Calendar will be printed on your ticket. Flexi Pass holders: Please read the 'Using the Flexi Pass' section below carefully!

What is the InterRail Pass Cover for?

The InterRail Pass Cover protects your ticket, which is stapled inside. It also includes the Travel Report form that you must present, together with the ticket, to ticket inspectors. Fill in your personal and ticket details before you start using your InterRail Pass, and fill in the journey details before you enter any new train, ferry or bus when using your Pass for transportation or a discount.

When do I need to make reservations?

Reservations, and the payment of an extra fee, are usually required on high-speed, international and night trains. Seats on such trains can be in high demand, especially to popular destinations such as Italy, France and Spain, and during the July and August high seasons. Furthermore, the number of seats allocated to InterRail Pass holders on these trains can be limited. Because of this, advance booking is strongly recommended – most trains can be booked up to 3 months in advance. Should seats for Pass holders be sold out for a train you want, your options are to purchase a full-fare ticket, try a different day or time, or consider taking an alternative route. Reservations can be made at railway station ticket counters and on participating railway company websites.

Does my InterRail Pass entitle me to anything else?

Yes – to a great range of special benefits, including free or discounted transportation on European buses and ferries. See the 'Benefits per Country' section for details.

Using the Flexi Pass

If you have a Flexi Pass, please read the following carefully to make sure you use it properly.

How do I fill in the Travel Calendar?

When travelling with a Flexi Pass, it is important that you record the date of each journey in the Travel Calendar (printed on the ticket). You must write in blue or black ink, and it is imperative to do this before boarding the train. Be very careful when filling in the date. If you make a mistake you cannot correct it, because this could be interpreted as an attempt at fraud. If you make a mistake, you will have to enter the correct date in the next travel day box and will consequently lose a travel day.

Travel day in Travel Calendar

How do I enter an overnight journey in my Travel Calendar?

This varies according to your departure time and the type of transportation you're using. Please note that for all overnight trips, your Pass must be valid on the day of departure and arrival (Conditions of Use, article 5).

- If your train departs before 19.00h, you need to use two travel days (fill in the day of departure in one set of boxes and the day of arrival in the next).
- If you are travelling on a direct night train (with no connections or layovers) that departs after 19.00h and arrives after 04.00h, you only need to use one day – the day of arrival. For instance, if you take the direct night train from Prague to Vienna that departs on August 2nd at 21.55, you only have to write August 3rd in the calendar.
- When travelling by night ferry, you only have to use one travel day. You may fill in either the day of departure or arrival. Please note that your Pass must be valid on the day of departure.

Do I have to keep anything in mind when making use of InterRail Pass extra benefits?

Yes. You may only make use of free transportation on a travel day that you have written on your ticket. Discounted travel, however, does not require use of a travel day. You can take advantage of this at any time (even if you have used all your travel days) as long as the journey takes place before the last day of the overall validity of the Pass.

Train types

There are a variety of different train types in Europe, each offering its own advantages and unique travel experiences.

Local trains

Easy, relaxed and intimate – that sums up the atmosphere of the countless local trains that you will find throughout Europe. Some of them only have 2nd class cars. Nowhere else will you get a better feel for the local people and European life than on these trains that weave their way from town to town, taking the locals to work, market or play.

Express day trains

There is also a full schedule of domestic and international trains that make fewer stops than local trains and get you to your destination more quickly. These are generally called InterCity (IC) or EuroCity (EC) trains. These trains sometimes require a seat reservation.

High-speed trains

Want to cover a long distance really fast, or as luxuriously as possible? There are many high-speed services that criss-cross Europe – all of them with comfortable 1st and 2nd class cars and catering services. Seat reservations are usually required, and additional costs must be paid. On the InterRail Map, High Speed lines are indicated by a purple or green line.

Legendary scenic rail routes

Europe is bursting with picturesque scenery that can be enjoyed from any type of train. But there are numerous train routes that are legendary for the magnificent vistas they pass through. InterRail Passes are valid for many of them, or entitle you to a discount. Reservations are sometimes required – they are always highly recommended. See the back of the InterRail Map for a sample of Europe's most scenic routes.

For panoramic views, choose a scenic route!

Night trains

Night trains run between many major European cities, and offer a variety of sleeping options for different budgets. Most of them require reservations and a supplement payment for the sleeping accommodation, but you can end up saving money since the supplement you pay can cost less than a hotel room would have. Some overnight trains offer reclining seats (generally only 2nd class), starting at €5. Most offer standard couchettes as well as more luxurious sleepers, with the supplement ranging in price from €15 to €69.

Couchettes are compartments with four open bunks in 1st class and four or six open bunks in 2nd class. These are shared with other passengers of both sexes, and people generally sleep in their day clothes. A sheet, blanket and pillow are provided. Sleepers offer more comfort and privacy (one or two passengers in 1st class, and two or three in 2nd class), and usually have a private wash basin. They are allocated exclusively for either men or women, unless your party occupies all the beds in the compartment.

Sleep tight...

On night trains, ticket and passport checks are sometimes conducted while you are sleeping. It is therefore quite common for the car attendant to collect your InterRail Pass and passport (or travel ID) for border formalities, so you won't have to be disturbed. Your documents will be returned to you in the morning. Just double-check that you have been given the right documents back.

Benefits per country

by taking advantage of one or

InterRail Global Pass Conditions of Use

1. InterRail Pass definition

An InterRail Pass consists of a ticket and a Pass Cover that includes the Travel Report. Neither the ticket nor the Pass Cover is valid on its own. Those who travel using one without the other risk payment of a full-fare ticket and a fine.

2. An InterRail Pass is strictly personal

An InterRail Pass is strictly personal, non-transferable and valid only upon presentation of a passport or other recognised travel identification document. Those who travel without a passport or a legal equivalent to be presented together with the Pass risk payment of a full-fare ticket and a fine.

3. Recording personal, ticket and journey details in the Travel Report

All InterRail Pass holders must fill in the personal and ticket details in the Pass Cover Travel Report before using the Pass. Before boarding a train, bus or boat, each journey must be recorded in the Journey Details section of the Travel Report in blue or black ink. Those who travel without having recorded these details risk payment of a full-fare ticket and a fine.

4. Flexi Pass: Filling in the Travel Calendar box

Flexi Pass holders may choose the days on which they travel within a longer period of overall validity. Before boarding the first train, bus or boat on a travel day, the date must be correctly entered in blue or black ink in the corresponding Travel Calendar boxes on the ticket. Those who travel on a date that has not been entered on the ticket risk payment of a full-fare ticket and a fine. Once entered, a travel date may not be corrected, as it can be considered an attempt at fraud. The correct date must be entered in the next travel day box.

5. Flexi Pass: Overnight journeys

If a trip on a direct overnight train departs after 19.00h and arrives after 04.00h, it is only necessary to enter the date of arrival in the Travel Calendar boxes on the ticket. This also covers travel between 19.00h and 24.00h on the day of departure, as long as the day of departure and arrival both fall within the overall period of the Pass's validity. When using an overnight ferry covered by the Pass, either the date of departure or arrival may be entered in the Travel Calendar boxes on the ticket.

6. Travelling within your own country

An InterRail Pass is valid for travel on the lines of all participating railway companies (see the list on the cover of your Pass), with the exception of the lines in your country of residence. For travel in your country of residence, you need to buy a regular ticket. These are often sold at reduced fare to InterRail Pass holders if purchased in the country of residence while your Pass is valid.

7. Misuse of an InterRail Pass

Aside from the payments and fines detailed above in connection with incorrect use of an InterRail Pass by the legal Pass holder, railway staff are authorised to confiscate a Pass which appears to be forged, which is being used by anyone other than the person to whom it was issued, or on which personal details or travel dates have been altered. This can be considered to be an attempt to perpetrate fraud against both Eurail Group and the national railway company they are travelling on. This will be reported to legal authorities, who will determine the proper penalties.

8. Period of validity

An InterRail Pass is valid within the overall time period indicated on the Pass. Travel can begin after 00.00 hours on the first day printed on the Pass, and the last trip must be finished by midnight (24.00 hours) on the last day of validity.

9. 1st and 2nd class

An InterRail Pass is valid for travel in the class indicated on the ticket. 1st class passes are also valid in 2nd class cars. Those wishing to travel 1st class with a 2nd class Pass must pay the full difference between 1st and 2nd class fare on the respective route. There is no refund for 1st class Pass holders travelling in 2nd class.

10. Eligibility

An InterRail Pass may only be used by residents of Europe, the Russian Federation or Turkey.

11. Seat availability and reservations

An InterRail Pass does not guarantee a seat in a train or boat, unless a reservation is secured in advance. For certain trains and ships, reservations are compulsory and surcharges may apply. Fees for seat reservations, sleeping accommodation, port taxes, meals, and other services while onboard trains and boats are not included in the Pass.

12. Lost, stolen or damaged passes

A duplicate InterRail Pass unfortunately cannot be issued for those that are lost, stolen, or damaged in such a way that they are unusable.

13. Refund policy

Refunds can be applied for if an InterRail Pass is returned to the point of sale before the first day of validity, or up to one month after the last day of validity if the Pass has been certified as "UNUSED" by a European railway before the first day of validity. In both cases, the entire cost is refunded, less a 15% cancellation fee. Passes that are (partially) used, lost or stolen will not be refunded or replaced.

14. Compensation policy in event of train delays

In the event that you experience three or more train delays that are longer than 60 minutes each, you can request compensation from the Eurail Group. For further information, please refer to www.eurailgroup.com/compensation.aspx.

15. Responsibility

Eurail Group G.I.E. cannot be held responsible for damages or extra costs incurred due to loss of baggage, theft, force majeure, strikes, or cancelled trains. However, in some of these cases, the Conditions of Carriage from the specific carrier may be favourable to claims.

16. Liability

Issuing offices and the Eurail Group G.I.E. act only as the intermediary of European carriers, and are not liable for operation of national rail services.

17. Legal provisions

For an InterRail Pass valid in more than one country, transportation is subject to the "Uniform Rules concerning the contract for GCC-CIV/PRR". For InterRail Passes valid in one country only, the legal provisions of that country apply. For journeys by sea, the legal provisions of the individual sea carrier apply. In the event of a conflict between English and other translated texts, the English text (see www.eurailgroup.com/InterRailCOU.aspx) shall prevail.
